Delivered by the Institute of Professional Legal Studies in conjunction with Housing Rights, this course offers an introduction to housing law and policy in Northern Ireland. It will cover aspects of housing law such as social housing, the private rented sector and home ownership.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
- Solicitors and barristers who practice in housing law
- Professionals working in the housing sector
- Those with an interest in policy and research in the housing sector.

The course will be offered as a mix of seminars at the Institute and online.

HOUSING RIGHTS

Housing Rights was established in 1964. It provides independent advice, advocacy, and legal representation for those experiencing housing problems. It offers training and information on housing and homelessness issues in NI and carries out housing and homelessness policy work to affect positive change. Its work is aimed at preventing homelessness, helping people access appropriate accommodation, and where possible, helping people sustain their existing accommodation.

SPEAKERS

Faith Westwood

Faith Westwood graduated from Queen’s University in 2004 with a degree in Law. After graduation she worked in the legal department of an investment bank negotiating international trade contracts. Faith has worked for Housing Rights for 12 years in a variety of roles including advice, advocacy and representation, developing and delivering expert training and support on housing issues to other housing practitioners; and as a mediator. She has varied experience and knowledge of the housing sector in Northern Ireland and particular expertise in the Private Rented Sector and Social Housing.

Justin Cartwright

Justin Cartwright is National Director for Northern Ireland at the Chartered Institute of Housing (CIH). Justin is experienced in policy development in Australia and Northern Ireland with a focus on social and economic issues. VENUE

The development of housing policy

This module will cover aspects of the development of housing policy in Northern Ireland, including the consultation process and opportunities to influence policy, how laws are made in the Northern Ireland Assembly. It will also cover secondary legislation and the implications of case law.

Social housing

This will cover aspects of the social housing sector including the legislative provisions relating to the allocation and provision of social housing including the nature of the tenancies provided and the responsibilities of landlord and tenant. It will also cover the law relating to homelessness in Northern Ireland including the eligibility for assistance and the rights and duties owed in relation to homelessness.

Home ownership

This will cover aspects of the housing market including recent developments such as the joint memorandum on improving communications between the professions. It will also discuss commonly encountered issues such as service charges and management companies.

The private rented sector

This will cover the current legislative framework in the private rented sector including recent developments such as landlord registration and tenancy deposit provisions and the Houses in Multiple Occupation Act (NI) 2016.
“I thoroughly enjoyed completing the Housing Law and Policy course, the lecturers/presenters were very knowledgeable and well-informed on the topics every week, the discussion was lively and provided further insight for all in attendance. The course reignited my passion for housing law and helped to further develop and inform me in my own role in the housing sector.”

Eibhlin Collins
Northern Ireland Housing Executive

“The course content was well pitched and the sessions delivered a great overview of housing legislation and policy in NI. It was also a good opportunity to meet housing practitioners from across the sector.”

Tim O’Malley
Neighbourhood Services Manager at Clanmil Housing Association

“The course was really interactive and interesting. The presenters were all experts in their field and were able to answer our questions in a clear and concise way. I also appreciated the opportunity to meet other housing professionals from across NI, it was great to hear about their experiences and learn from their insights. Overall, I thought this was a very valuable course and I would definitely recommend it to anyone working in the housing sector.”

Christine Cackett
Senior Policy and Improvement Officer, Radius Housing
