BAIL LAW & PRACTICE IN NORTHERN IRELAND

Katie Quinn BL & Charlene Dempsey LLB, LL.M

This book outlines the many powers of the police and the courts to grant bail in Northern Ireland. Bail at each stage of the criminal process is examined, from bail granted by police officers on the street to bail granted by the highest courts. The applicable law in relation to children accused of criminal offences is set out, as is bail in the context of extradition and immigration proceedings. Written by Barrister and former academic, Katie Quinn and Solicitor Advocate, Charlene Dempsey, it sets out the relevant legislation and rules of court and includes references to both reported and unreported Northern Ireland cases. It also includes practical insights into bail applications and proceedings. This comprehensive, accessible and practical book is an essential guide for practitioners.
